Chapter 1

Kerala,

2700.

Ambika, a 25 year old Archeologist, stood inside the old shri Vaidyanath Temple. It was her first visit. She had come not for prayer but because of a strange dream.

The rain had been falling for days. Feel like acids, the forest now surrounded by towns. Seeing most birds in books

Listen the story of animals and panchtantra through the robots nanny.Let's begins

The Temple ground was wet and water had entered every corner. But today, something hidden for centuries was ready to come out.

At the back of the temple, a crack had formed in the floor during the storm. Ambika knelt beside it. She saw something shiny beneath the broken tile- a copper seal,marked with a strange symbol she had never seen.
